

Job Title: Claims Handler Marine Location: Zaventem, Belgium

To stimulate its further growth, Willis Towers Watson Belgium is looking for a talented Claims Handler Marine (m/f) for its CRB (Corporate Risk & Broking) activities in our Zaventem office.

The Role

- Within our organisation, you are the go-to person for insurance solutions and concepts in terms of maritime and transport risks
- In close collaboration with our Account Managers, Client Managers and Claims Specialists you are ideally placed to support and counsel our B2B customers and prospects on a technical, commercial and administrative level
- You are co-responsible for the management and follow-up of our clients' claims and you represent their interests to our partner insurers, opposing parties, lawyers and experts
- Your analytical and methodical approach enables you to accurately assess the needs and expectations of our clients and (proactively) help translate them into creative and innovative concepts and solutions. To this end, you carry out market studies and analyses and you keep on top of insurance trends and evolutions in the business world
- You build durable long-term partnerships with our partner insurers, lawyers and experts
- As a fluent communicator, you like to field technical questions by clients and colleagues

The Requirements:

- Education: you hold a Bachelor or Master's degree in law, economics, nautical science or marine engineering.
- Experience: you have gained a first work experience working at the bar, in the insurance industry or in the private sector
- Language skills: you are fluent in Dutch, French and English. Additional languages are an asset
- Other competencies: you are proactive, creative and flexible. You can work autonomously and at the same time you are a true team player. You use an analytical approach and are well-organised. You think in a customer and solution-oriented way
- Open-minded: You have a mind that is open to change.
- Other skills: You are an excellent negotiator; proactive and eager to satisfy the client. Moreover, you like working on a team, you have a sense of detail and you demonstrate organization and structure in your work.
